I wholeheartedly acknowledge the invaluable contributions of Dr. Frederik Schroyens to the field of homoeopathic repertorisation. His work, Synthesis Repertory, stands as one of the most comprehensive, systematically structured, and academically reliable repertories available today. Its clarity, scientific organisation, and extensive integration of classical and contemporary sources make it an exceptional tool for both undergraduate and postgraduate learning. Dr. Schroyens' dedication to precision and advancement in repertorial methodology has greatly enriched homoeopathic education and clinical practice. We fully support the continued use of the Synthesis Repertory as a trusted and authoritative reference for students and practitioners alike.
